From the Director's Chair

Dear Parents,

We had another amazing week here at Lewis and Clark! The students really enjoyed the cooler weather during recess. I am hoping fall is here to stay! At this point we are about 7 weeks into the school year. Students are continuing to build routines, and habits. One habit that we try to instill in our students is having a good attendance record. Our school has a goal that we set to have 97% of students present at school 97% of the time. So far this year we are averaging 97.5%. We will be tracking this goal and updating parents and students on our progress each week. Setting this routine early in life can have positive impacts on your child for their future education. We appreciate your support as we aim to reach this goal!

Sincerely,
Stephanie Sanker
